Gone, But Not Forgotten

Crispus Attucks Association of York, Pennsylvania
2012 Annual Report
A Message from the Chief Executive Officer

Gone, but not forgotten. It may sound trite, but in 2012 the Crispus Attucks Association, and the York community, lost some people we will never forget. They left their mark on many of our clients and staff members. Two long-term Crispus Attucks Association employees, Jerry Hall and Sheila Banks, died. In addition, several long-term advocates and supporters of Crispus Attucks – Joanne Borders, Alice Bowers, Dorrie Leader, and Bill Simpson – died in 2012. You will see a picture and a remembrance of each of these people in this report. Their passing has left us with fond memories of each of them.

Our relationships with those who are no longer with us make us think about the ones we still have with us, like you. Financial supporters, staff, and volunteers work together to build relationships with our clients every day. In 2012, we built on our 80-year tradition of helping one person at a time in each of our programs. And you made that possible.

Thank you for being a part of the Crispus Attucks family!

Robert L. Simpson
Chief Executive Officer
Background

Founded in 1931, the Crispus Attucks Association was started to provide a center for community life for African Americans in a segregated York, Pennsylvania. The organization takes its name from the American revolutionary of the same name, an African American and former slave who was one of the five killed in the Boston Massacre in 1770.

Today, the Crispus Attucks Association is a multi-purpose center in southeast York City offering a wide range of services for people of all backgrounds and ages, fulfilling its mission as the heart of change for all people in need.

You will find in this report details of these programs and a glimpse of some of the people we have touched through them.

How do I capture a masterpiece on paper? Classy, real, humble, stern but loving, and a woman who believed in all people. Her laugh even echoed love. She always saw the best in everyone. Joanne would help anyone with their needs; if you were looking for assistance in finding a job, food, legal advice, or just someone to talk to.

Joanne never forgot where she came from. She embraced her past and always preached the importance of the end product.

When I think of Joanne, I think of two poems by Maya Angelou, “Still I Rise” and “Phenomenal Woman”. Joanne had a style about her that was classy and real like any phenomenal woman. She encouraged and inspired people to rise above negativity.

Jacqueline Martino-Miller

Last year the York community and the Crispus Attucks Association lost a great person in Bill Simpson. I have nothing but fond memories of my friend.

He was a true Baltimore Ravens fan and we attended many games together. I remember we went to a Ravens vs. Pittsburgh game. Baltimore was winning by 13 points with less than two minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. I asked, “Cuz, shouldn’t we be heading to the exit to get ahead of the traffic?” But he wanted to stay just in case the Steelers came back.

He gave the same dedication to Crispus Attucks and the York community. He will be truly, truly missed by all of us.

Over the last 15 years, Cora,* a mother and now a grandmother, has chosen to enroll her children in the Early Learning Center (ELC).

When her two older children were enrolled, Cora was able to work a full-time job knowing that they were safe and in a quality environment. Due to the age limit ending at 12 years, Cora had to leave our program. A few years ago, Cora enrolled her three youngest children in the ELC.

Getting ready for lunch.

During the time the younger ones have been enrolled, Cora has been able to continue with her job and was able to take college courses. In 2012, Cora received her Bachelor’s Degree in Nursing and a promotion at work! Because Cora knew her children were in a high quality childcare center and being prepared for their own school experiences, Cora could focus on her job and classes. Two of her children are doing very well in school and the youngest is enrolled not only in the ELC but also in our Pre-K Counts Program. He is very ready for kindergarten and should excel during his school years.

Cora’s two-year-old grandson is also enrolled in the ELC. His mom graduated from high school, earned certification in a trade, and is now enrolling in the Navy. When she leaves for the her training, Cora will gain guardianship. He will stay enrolled at the ELC and continue on his educational journey.

What a great example Cora is for her children and grandchild. She acknowledges that she could not have attained these goals if she wasn’t confident in the care her children receive. We are very proud of Cora and her accomplishments and are happy we could be a part of her success.

When John Wilson, age 16, came to the Rising STARS program, a single parent and his grandmother were raising him. He was disrespectful to authority figures and numerous times he was suspended from the Rising STARS program. To earn the right to reenter the program, he was required to do additional community service work. He was defiant; when he did not want to listen to directions, he would just leave. He appeared to not care what other people thought about him.

The staff of the Rising STARS program have been working with him, mentoring him, and he is starting to make attitude and behavioral improvements. He now says please and thank you and volunteers as a way of, in his words, “staying out of trouble” instead of being mandated to volunteer. John has also become very helpful. He is helpful with the younger boys and with the staff. John may still be a work in progress, but he has certainly come a long way.

Sheila Banks, who was employed by Crispus Attucks for 15 years, passed away in December. Sheila started out as a VISTA volunteer in 1996 and then worked in the Crispus Attucks Housing Department.

In 2001, she transferred to the Center for Employment and Training. Sheila became an integral part of the department as a program data specialist and office administrative assistant. Affectionately known as the “Secretary to the World,” you could always count on Sheila to keep things in order. She would let you know in a minute if things were not right.

Ms. Sheila Banks will be greatly missed by the Crispus Attucks Association and the Center for Employment and Training in particular.

Growing up I never thought I would be where I am today, I grew up without a role model to show me the way. I thought I wasn’t smart enough to make it. When I got to high school, I cared more about the way I looked than my education. So I quit. What I needed was a new way to get an education.

I joined the Job Corps to learn a trade. It was a great experience, but it took four years to complete. When I graduated, I didn’t receive my auto mechanic certificate because I didn’t have a high school diploma.

While I was back in York, my friends kept talking about how much fun their school was and how the staff treated their students like family. I decided to swing by the Crispus Attucks YouthBuild Charter School (CAYBCS) to pick up an application. When I started classes, I was amazed by how devoted the staff was to the students’ education. I needed a second chance to prove to myself that I could do it. A year went by, my grades were outstanding, and I rarely missed a day of class.

After graduation, I went to college at York Technical Institute and received an Associate’s degree, but in order to graduate, I needed to complete an internship. I went back to CAYBCS as an intern. I received my degree with outstanding grades.

After moving away, I returned for a visit and started working for CAYBCS as an AmeriCorps volunteer. I enjoy what I do and how I can relate to the students, because I lived it. I started at the front doors of CAYBCS just like them and now I work two jobs while also working toward my Bachelor of Science degree in Management. I thank God and everyone that believed in me. I turned my past struggles into experiences that allowed me to grow strong and achieve goals I never thought I would. And this is just the beginning of my journey and my success.

Center for Employment & Training

Served: 512 job seekers, ages 14 and up
Services: Education Leading to Employment and Career Training (ELECT) for pregnant and parenting youth
General Employment Services, Career Workshops, and Counseling
Youth Employment Services (YES), Job Readiness, and Skills Training

Josh Wolfolk participated in the Crispus Attucks Summer Career & Employment Academy, a program that is available to youth who are part of the YES program. We offered a 4-week, 20-hour per week career awareness and work experience program to youth between the ages of 17 and 21 living in York County. We designed the program to give participants experience with real-world labor expectations; increase their awareness of services offered in the community; and provide opportunities for career exploration, learning financial literacy, and learning the importance of academic improvement and social growth. Josh, who was 18 years old, autistic, and a recent high school graduate, is really good with computers, so we placed him in the Crispus Attucks Technology Department for a work experience. He was introduced to various aspects of computer equipment and enjoyed his time there. Upon completion of the program, Josh expressed his desire to find employment. He began utilizing our Bridging Opportunities Career Center and worked closely with our Job Developer/Work Experience Coordinator and eventually found employment with Shadowfax. He is very happy with his new job and seems to enjoy it.

Jerry Hall was a humble man who looked for the best in people, and because of this, he became a friend to the Crispus Attucks staff, students, clients, and community members. After volunteering for several years, he joined the staff and later became the technology director. He patiently dealt with all of our technology frustrations and ineptitudes while helping us improve our computer skills. In his spare time, he willingly assisted staff with personal technology needs. Jerry’s laugh and sense of humor is missed by all who knew him.

Housing & Maintenance

Served: 275 tenants in 133 housing units
Services: Affordable Rental Housing
Weekdays 8 AM to 5 PM
Office: 613 South George Street

In the City of York, the Crispus Attucks Housing Department operates 133 units of worker housing. For these tenants, Crispus Attucks Housing is a stepping stone to improving their lives. One such tenant is Joey. Joey moved into a Crispus Attucks housing unit two years ago with his wife Luz, and children Josiah, and Jailyn.

In a letter to the maintenance department, Joey expressed his gratitude. “I would like to thank the maintenance team and the Housing office for the great opportunity they gave me. During the time that I was renting through the Housing office, I was faced with the possibility of being laid off. In 2010-2012, I lived on South George Street. During that time I met Garry King, who is a big part of the Crispus Attucks Maintenance team. While I lived in Crispus Attucks housing, when something needed to be fixed it was always fixed as soon as possible. I liked the way Garry did his job and was so friendly.

I asked Garry if they were hiring; he told me to apply. I did and I got the job. With this job I was able to qualify for the Habitat for Humanity program. In only a couple months time, I was able to put in the 450 hours I needed to get the house I wanted. Now I am living in my own house with my family. I would like to say thank you to the Crispus Attucks Maintenance team and Housing office for letting me work with you and for allowing me to be a part of your family.”

Joey Villafane with his wife and two children.

Dorrie Leader

Dorrie was a true Civil Rights pioneer. She was in the forefront of the Civil Rights Movement in York when many, both black and white, were afraid to get involved.

I knew her for forty years and never once did she waver from her conviction of equal opportunity and justice for all. York is a much better place because of Dorrie Leader.

The Crispus Attucks Active Living Center (ALC) offers quality service to seniors living in the South York City and County area. Each year, the ALC tries to find new ways to help the seniors maintain their independence.

In 2012, we continued to build our collaboration with different agencies. This past year we were able to build a new relationship with ForSight Vision. Due to this new relationship, we are now able to refer ALC members who have vision disabilities for services.

This year one of our workers was able to receive help with her low-vision impairment. ForSight Vision came in, did an analysis on her disability, and was able to refer her for additional services, so she could keep her job at the ALC.

This collaboration and relationship with ForSight Vision has greatly benefited this program. It has allowed us to consistently meet the needs of our members, as well as the needs of our workers, while also helping us to connect with other agencies outside of the York area.

It has been a wonderful year.

Active Living Center Members enjoy the opportunity to get together for various activities.

Each weekday, ALC members and guests can eat a hot meal together.
